COURSE DESCRIPTION

A critical examination of selected traditional and contemporary views of human nature with the following questions in mind: Do we have a characteristic nature? What are our basic needs, purposes, rights, obligations, and values? To what extent are our actions determined by heredity and instinct? Are we free? Are we responsible for our actions? How - if at all - do the answers to any of these questions differ depending on our individual identities? Given an understanding of human nature, how should we structure society to satisfy our needs and take advantage of our potential?

COURSE REQUIREMENTS, EVALUATION, AND POLICIES

I. Required Texts:

1. Jonathan Haidt, The Happiness Hypothesis (New York: Basic Books, 2006).
2. Victor Frankl, Man's Search for Meaning (Boston: Beacon Press, 1959).
3. Ta-Nehisi Coates, Between the World and Me (New York: Spiegel & Grau, 2015).
4. Additional readings will be made available as handouts in class and posted on Canvas

II. Evaluation

i. Classroom Participation (25%) – Much of this class will proceed as a seminar, which means careful reading of assigned work, regular attendance, and participation in class are all essential in order to succeed in the course. A separate handout/rubric will be distributed regarding expectations for classroom participation/discussion.

ii. Essays (45%) – Two different analytical/argumentative essays will be assigned throughout the term. More specific information about the expectations for these assignments will be provided in a separate handout.

- a. Essay 1 (20%) – Due Monday, October 1
- b. Essay 2 (25%) – Due Monday, October 22

iii. Student Journal (10%) – Students are expected to maintain a journal throughout the course, which will be collected and assessed for effort and completion at four different points throughout the term.

iv. Final Reflection (20%) - All students will complete a final reflection (due during finals week) that draws from material in their journals.

III. Extensions – Generally speaking, I do not grant extensions. In addition to allocating class time for papers, prompts are also handed out at least one week in advance of the due date, so the expectation is that students will plan ahead and manage their time appropriately. The only exception to this policy is when a student has three or more major assignments due on the same day, in which case students are expected to follow the protocols outlined on p. 51 of the Blue Book under “Workload & Assignments” (which includes 24-hours advance notice).

IV. Late Work Policy – All written assignments are due at the beginning of class (please upload to Canvas). Any work handed in after this point will be counted as late. Please note that problems with technology are not an excuse for lateness. Anticipate that the printer will break, that files will be lost, or that your computer will die! Any work handed in after the due date will receive a grade no higher than a 3+.

V. Revision Policy – Students may rewrite any essay in the course (except for the final), though note that revisions must be substantial; it is not sufficient simply to plug in the instructor’s feedback. To that end, I strongly encourage students to meet with me if they are electing to complete a revision. The grade for the rewrite will be averaged with the first grade to determine the final grade for the assignment. All rewrites are due one week after the initial essay is returned. Please note that I do not accept rewrites for unauthorized late essays.

VI. Absences - As noted above under Classroom Preparation/Participation, regular attendance is essential if one is to succeed in this course! However, I realize that this course is not your only commitment this term, just as I realize that circumstances inevitably arise that are outside of your control. First and foremost, I ask that you communicate with me (the earlier the better). Please note that students are responsible for all announcements or changes made in class. Regarding Personal Time, I ask that students follow the procedures outlined on pp. 54-55 of the Blue Book. Finally, in the event that an assignment is due on the day a student is sick (with an excused absence from the Health Center), said assignment will be due at the beginning of the next class meeting.

VII. E-mail – I will respond to all e-mail within 24 hours. However, please note that any e-mail sent after 7:00 PM will not receive a response until the following morning, so please plan ahead!

VIII. Religious Observances – Some students may wish to take part in religious observances that fall during the term. Should you have a religious observance that conflicts with participation in the course, please contact me as soon as possible to discuss appropriate accommodations.

IX. Disabilities – Students with learning, physical, or psychiatric disabilities who may require disability-related classroom accommodations are encouraged to see me as soon as possible to discuss your particular needs. All discussions will remain confidential, though I may consult Student Health Services to discuss appropriate implementation of any accommodation requested.

X. Technology – Although we live in an increasingly digitized world, please note that I do not allow the use of computers/tablet/phones during class unless otherwise specified.
